RFK Declares LBJ Policy Has Hardened

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former top aide to President John F. Kennedy says the Johnson administration has hardened its terms for Vietnam peace talks and apparently "does not wish negotiations now."

The charge Wednesday by Arthur Schlesinger Jr., a special assistant to Kennedy and a Pulitzer Prize-winning author, drew an immediate White House denial.

Administration leaders "have made clear we're ready to negotiate an end to the war," said George Christian, White House press secretary.

Shortly before Schlesinger read his statement to a news conference, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said the United States "is ready for unconditional discussions today" on ending the war.

Goldberg, chief U. S. envoy to the United Nations, was asked if U. S. policy calls for delaying talks until South Vietnam's constitutional government is in-

Offered $1000 for Race Vote, Lawman Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Gayle Windsor of Little Rock says he was offered $1,000 to vote for a controversial bill to legalize casino gambling in Hot Springs.

"In four terms, I'd never been offered money before and I felt like a wallflower," Windsor was quoted as saying in a page one story in today's Arkansas Gazette.

Windsor did not vote on the measure, he said, because he was ill last Wednesday and Thursday.

Windsor said he went to the House chamber last Friday "to get my key out of the voting machine, so nobody else could vote for me."

He said that as he was leaving the chamber an acquaintance whom he did not identify asked him to vote for the bill, which came up later in the day.

He told the man he was not going to vote and that if he did vote, he would not vote for the bill, Windsor said.

Windsor quoted the man as replying that "there's 10 bills in it for you."

The representative said he later conferred with other House members and was told that 10 bills meant $1,000.

He said he had asked the other members for a definition of the term "10 bills."

Windsor said he did not mention the matter before the vote last Friday because he "was sick" and "just wanted to get back home."

Dr. Ralph Phelps, president of Ouachita Baptist University, created a stir among some of the lawmakers Tuesday over Phelps' statement that "while we can't promise $1,000 a vote we can promise a fury such as these men have never seen when they stand for re-election."

Some House members demanded an apology from Phelps, and got it. Phelps was a leader in Churches United Against Gambling, a group that fought the unsuccessful proposed constitutional amendment in 1964 which would have allowed local option elections on the gambling issue.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller vetoed the gambling bill Tuesday, announcing that he would do so on a television appearance Monday night.

The governor's action brought comments from lawmakers that Rockefeller had assured them that the bill would become law if it passed. The governor later said he did not say this and that apparently he had been misunderstood.

stalled later this year.

"That is not true," Goldberg replied.

But Schlesinger said the administration has "hardened its terms, demanding today from Hanoi what it did not demand a year ago—the prior assurance of some reciprocal act as a condition to our ending the bombing of North Vietnam."

Hanoi has in the past interpreted U. S. offers of peace talks as a sign of weakness, said Schlesinger. Now administration policymakers are viewing recent North Vietnamese statements in the same light, he added.

"By this logic we cannot negotiate while we are behind because we are weak, and we can't negotiate either when we are ahead because, if we keep on doing what we have been doing, we will be even farther ahead at some later point," he said.

Grand Jury Moves Into RFK Probe

By BILL CRIDER

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A grand jury moves into the controversial Kennedy assassination probe today with a subpoena for a lawyer who once included Lee Harvey Oswald among his clients.

The Orleans Parish (County) grand jury ordered Dean A. Andrews Jr. to appear at its secret session for questioning today.

It marked the grand jury's first step into the investigation, which Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison contends will prove that a conspiracy was hatched in New Orleans which culminated in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

The Warren Commission said Oswald, a former New Orleans resident, shot the president and there was no credible evidence any one else was involved.

Andrews, who said he handled a few minor legal matters for Oswald in the summer of 1963, told the Warren Commission that — shortly after the assassination — a man he knew as Clay Bertrand telephoned him and asked that he represent Oswald.

The FBI could never find a Clay Bertrand. Garrison contends that Clay L. Shaw, a prosperous New Orleans businessman, used the name Bertrand as an alias. Shaw said he has never used an alias.

Shaw, 54, former managing director of the International Trade Mart here, was arrested March 1 and booked on conspiracy to murder. He is free on $10,000 bond.

Under Louisiana law, being booked does not constitute a formal charge. The question of formal charge may be decided Tuesday at an unusual preliminary hearing for Shaw in Criminal District Court.

Shaw's attorneys lost a bid Wednesday to have the case quashed — but Criminal Dist. Judge Bernard Bagert said Garrison may have to produce his unidentified "confidential informant" against Shaw during the preliminary hearing.

"It is my inclination now that the identity of the informant will have to be disclosed at the hearing," said Judge Bagert, after refusing to dismiss the case on a claim of lack of juris-

Co-Boxers of Month Named

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Joe Frazier of Philadelphia, the No. 5 heavyweight contender, and Kyoshi Tanabe of Japan, second-ranked flyweight, were named co-Boxers of the Month for February by the World Boxing Association.

The informant was first mentioned in Garrison's application for a warrant to search Shaw's home. The application alleged that Shaw, Oswald, David W. Ferrie and others met at Ferrie's apartment here in September 1963 and agreed "to kill John F. Kennedy."

Present at the meetings, said Garrison, was "a confidential informant who saw the conspirators and heard the plans."

Other U. S. firms which filed reports on possible defects since Jan. 1 were Kaiser Jeep, International Harvester, American Motors and Clark Equipment Co., a manufacturer of trailers.

Foreign companies filing reports included Rolls Royce, Jaguar, Porsche, BMW of West Germany, Datsun, Volkswagen and Renault.

Some 670,000 Vehicles Were Defective

WASHINGTON (AP) — Potential defects in more than 670,000 cars, trucks and buses — most of them 1967 models — have been reported to the government by domestic and foreign manufacturers since Jan. 1.

Commerce Department records showed today that most of the recalls were by the domestic big three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—for a variety of possible defects involving brake parts, steering shaft alignment and windshield wipers.

Three other domestic and seven foreign producers also are listed.

Some of the recalls have been announced publicly by the companies but this isn't required under the new traffic safety law.

Manufacturers are only required to report potential car and truck defects to the government and to inform owners so corrections, if needed, can be made.

A report to the government doesn't mean that all vehicles listed are defective.

If, for example, the manufacturer discovers an improperly made steering gear on a car, he may trace the batch of gears which contained the faulty one, then recall all cars supplied from that batch. He might find many, a few or no cars with the same defect.

Other U. S. firms which filed reports on possible defects since Jan. 1 were Kaiser Jeep, International Harvester, American Motors and Clark Equipment Co., a manufacturer of trailers.

Foreign companies filing reports included Rolls Royce, Jaguar, Porsche, BMW of West Germany, Datsun, Volkswagen and Renault.

Sugar is used as a raw material in more than 87 industries.

Fire Destroys Desha School

Officials said students were quickly evacuated and no one was injured.

2 Missing, 2 Scale Mt. McKinley

TALKEETNA, Alaska (AP) — The first men to scale Mt. McKinley in the fierce subarctic winter were resting from their ordeal today while a search continued for two companions who have been unaccounted for since Sunday.

An Army helicopter plucked three Anchorage climbers from the 14,000-foot level of the 20,320-foot mountain late Wednesday. Earlier the men, using a radio dropped from an Air Force plane, sent word that they reached the summit at 7 p.m. March 1.

What was it like at the highest point on the North American continent, in temperatures of about 50 below zero and wind of possibly 100 miles an hour?

"It was nice," said Ray Genet, 35, of Anchorage when the helicopter landed here. With Genet on the assault were Art Davidson, 22, and Dave Johnston, 24, also of Anchorage.

At Talkeetna they rejoined Gregg Blomberg, 25, of Denver, Colo., leader of the expedition, and John Edwards, 35, of Cleveland, Ohio, from whom they became separated during the climb. Another Army helicopter picked up Blomberg and Edwards at the 8,250-foot level.

The climbers were reported in good condition except for apparently minor frostbite.

Veteran bush pilot Don Sheldon took off to fly the five climbers from here to Fair-

Koreans in Protest of Rifle Sales

By K. P. HONG
SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — America's South Korean allies are saying "me, too" in a big way after learning that the United States is selling neutralist Singapore 23,000 modern automatic rifles.

The Koreans want up-to-date guns for their troops along the frontier with North Korea as well as those in Vietnam who are still armed with World War II model weapons.

Defense Minister Kim Sung-eun told a news conference he will ask U. S. officials to issue modern automatic weapons to the 45,000 Koreans in Vietnam when he accompanies Premier Chung Il-kwon to Washington next week.

Kim refused to comment on the Singapore weapons deal, but he said it was urgent that "outmoded small firearms of our boys" in Vietnam be replaced with automatic weapons suitable for jungle warfare.

Kim, a former Marine officer, said modern weapons were also needed for his troops manning the 152-mile Korean truce lines with World War II M1 rifles while North Korean troops across the line are armed with modern automatic weapons.

The Seoul newspaper Hankook Ilbo said the sale of automatic weapons to Singapore "makes us feel as if we had been betrayed by a friend."

It said the sale "demonstrates banks, but had to put down for the night at Summit, about halfway there, because of bad weather."

The men were supposed to have been rushed to the Arctic Research Laboratory of the University of Alaska at Fairbanks to test effects of the climb on their metabolism. It was feared here that the overnight stay at Summit might affect the value of the tests.

an excess in the U.S. capability of manufacturing and conveying such modern rifles badly needed in the Vietnam war, especially by our troops whose outmoded rifles are inferior to the enemy fire power.

"And yet the supply of automatic rifles to our troops on Vietnam duty has been delayed on the pretext that U.S. production and transportation capability is rather limited."

The State Department said Monday that the cash sale of 23,000 AR15 rifles to Singapore was approved last November by the U.S. Munitions and Arms Control Agency. The AR15 is the civilian counterpart of the M16 automatic rifle used by the U.S. Army in Vietnam. U.S. officials did not disclose the total amount of the sale, but the rifles have a value of $87 to $100 each.

Dear Helen: My brother and I got into some trouble a while back, and got out of it without anything serious happening, but I'd just as soon my parents didn't know about it. I mean, what's over is over — and it would only worry them. I learned my lesson!

But my brother threatens to tell them all about it every time I won't clean up his room for him, or do something that's HIS job. I'm working twice as hard now, just to keep his big mouth shut. What should I do? — WORRIED

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — CBS reports of the impending death of "Gunsmoke," it turns out, were exaggerated. CBS Tuesday in a turn-about decided to put the 12-year-old Western back into its next season's schedule.

Then, in another unexpected move, it knocked "Gilligan's Island" off its list of programs to be renewed, decided against using an announced new comedy called "Doc" and thus opened up an early Monday evening hour for the venerable horse opera.

A network spokesman said that "Gunsmoke" won a new lease on life "after the surprise reaction of press and our affiliated stations" to canceling a fairly popular program. Actually, "Gunsmoke" had extremely healthy Nielsen ratings.

What apparently bothered the network was the fact that audience polls showed the program to be more attractive to older viewers than younger ones at a time when all three networks — and many sponsors — are preoccupied with reaching young families with growing children.

"Gilligan's Island," which in spite of critical scorn is in its third season, is popular with the young crowd. In the most recent Nielsen list it placed 44th, a "Mission Impossible" and "The Wild, Wild West," both CBS shows which have been renewed.

The news about "Gilligan's Island" came as a distinct shock to Jim Backus, who plays a socialite millionaire in the broad comedy about a shipwrecked party.

Backus is in New York recuperating from a virus picked up while making NBC's adaptation of the musical, "Damn Yankees."

"It's hard to believe," said

A BROKEN FOOT suffered during practice may have changed the cheerleading style somewhat for Linda Joyce, 19, of Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., but it didn't keep her out of action. It even added color to her outfit, after she covered the cast with stripes to match her sweater.

Backus. "And my wife just doesn't believe it. I guess we were all counting on at least one more season so we could have three years — 100 shows. That's important for the reruns and the residual payments, you know. Well, I guess nothing much stays in one place long these days."

CBS executives insisted several weeks ago that its fall schedule was firmly locked in place. But there are always shifts and changes made during the selling season.

"CBS Reports" Tuesday night presented a calm and almost clinical documentary about what Mike Wallace, the narrator, called "the most despised minority group in the United States," homosexuals.

The program contained interviews with psychiatrists, clergymen, police, and a judge as well as a number of men talking frankly about their problem.

In spite of the frank approach to the unhappy subject, the program was able to reach no conclusions, and left it where it was at the outset — a dilemma.

let it happen eventually? — WONDERING

Dear Won: A girl doesn't look for "aggressive" tactics right away, but it's been four months, chum. Surely she's begun to wonder: "Does he know I'm a girl?" Next time you walk her across the street, take her hand, and keep holding it. — H.

Dear Helen: Well, Helen, for once your intuition and good judgment fell. I refer to your reply, "A's aren't that important anyway," when IGNORAMUS wondered if her folks were right in grounding her until she got them (in all subjects).

You must be blind to the facts of college acceptance standards. You have no right to tell ANY student A's aren't important!

College acceptances get tougher every year, and to reach the college of your choice your grades must be "top." True, all young people aren't capable of straight "A's," but don't discourage the ones who are! — MARIE

Dear Marle: Sorry to disagree, but a "straight-A grind" has far less chance of making the "college of his choice" (if it's one of the Big Ten, that is) than a B or B plus average student who has leadership qualities and proves them by his list of extra activities. "A's" achieved through "grounding" build up parents' self-esteem at the risk of losing a REAL all-around person. ... who studies because he wants to learn, not through fear of punishment. — H.

Dear Helen: Thanks for your wise answer to "Ignoramus," I pray that her parents will realize you are right and that grounding a cooperative, sensible child until she gets all "A's" can be destructive. Proof of overemphasis on grades is all too evident in today's statistics of numerous nervous breakdowns and a tragically high total even of suicides among students.

I would be happy if our children earned all "A's" but wouldn't push. We only ask that they do their best — and they do, for they know we are pulling for them. A "B" average is all that is needed for college entrance. — E.F.C.

Dear Readers: Many colleges accept less than "B" average students. All is not lost if you're in "The High C's" — as your counselor will tell you. — H.

Small Powers Share Cage Limelight

Southern Illinois and Kentucky Wesleyan, the country's top two small college powers, share the limelight in college basketball tonight with North Carolina, nationally fourth-ranked among the major teams.

Southern Illinois, No. 1 in the final small college Associated Press poll of the season, risks its 15-game winning streak and 20-2 over-all record against St. Peter's of New Jersey in the first round of the National Invitation Tournament in New York. Marshall plays Villanova in the opening game of the NIT.

With Southern Illinois preferring to play against major teams in the NIT, Kentucky Wesleyan, 21-3, opens its drive for a second straight NCAA college division national championship.

The Panthers meet Stetson at Evansville, Ind., in the South Central regionals. Kentucky Wesleyan, No. 2 in the final AP small college poll, won the championship last year by defeating Southern Illinois in the final.

North Carolina, 21-4, is pitted against N.C. State in one of four first round games in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tourney at Greensboro, N.C. South Carolina meets Maryland and Duke battles Virginia in an afternoon doubleheader to open the ACC tourney.

Top-seeded North Carolina and N.C. State meet in the first of a night doubleheader followed by Clemson vs. Wake Forest.

The winner of the ACC gets an automatic berth in the NCAA, unless it is South Carolina, with the runner-up getting the last spot in the 14-team NIT field.

South Carolina is on probation and not eligible for post-season NCAA games.

Nebraska was named to the NIT in the only activity involving major teams Wednesday. The Cornhuskers from the Big Eight drew a first-round bye and will play the winner of the Marshall-Villanova game in Monday's quarter-finals.

Long Island qualified for the final in the Northeast regional in the NCAA small college tourney by routing Central Connecticut 114-66 at New Britain, Conn. The Blackbirds will play either St. Michaels, Vt., or Assumption, Mass., Saturday at a site still to be selected.

St. Michael's beat Northeastern 70-61 and Assumption edged American International 87-85 in three overtimes in a doubleheader at Springfield, Mass. St. Michael's and Assumption meet tonight for the right to play Long Island.

Led by Sam Smith, named to the Little All-America this week with Southern Illinois' Walt Frazier, Kentucky Wesleyan is favored to beat Stetson.

In another game at Evansville tonight, South Carolina State meets Tennessee State. The winners play Friday night for the right to compete next week in the NCAA small college wind-up at Evansville.

The quarter-finals are scheduled for March 15, and semifinals March 16 and the championship final March 17.

Six other regionals get under way Friday in the NCAA small college tourney with the winners playing Saturday for the right to compete in the three-day wind-up at Evansville.

This is Friday's schedule:

Midwest at Akron, Ohio — Mt. St. Mary's vs. Akron and Baldwin-Wallace vs. Winston-Salem State.

East at Allentown, Pa. — Philadelphia Textile vs. Wagner and Cheyney State vs. Drexel.

Southwest at Springfield, Mo. — Southwest Missouri vs. Arkansas AM&N and Lincoln, Mo. vs. Arkansas State.

Great Lakes at Terre Haute, Ind. — Indiana State vs. Iowa Luther and Southern Colorado State vs. Valparaiso.

Midwest at Normal, Ill. — Louisiana Tech vs. North Dakota and Parsons vs. Illinois State.

Pacific Coast at San Diego — Portland State vs. San Diego State and Nevada Southern vs. Cal Aggies of Davis.

The NAIA, the other small college national tournament, opens Monday at Kansas City and runs all week with the final March 18. The NAIA pairings have not yet been announced.

Herbert Opens Defense of Citrus Crown

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Lionel Herbert felt so good starting defense of his Citrus Open Golf Championship today that he was almost worried sick.

Last year the 39-year-old Louisianan cracked a four-year victory drought by capturing the Citrus crown while he was feeling lousy.

"I was so sick last year that if I had been given an early starting time on the first round I wouldn't have played," the stocky veteran of 17 years as a pro said.

"I wasn't playing very good, and I had just changed clubs and didn't even know what I could do with them," Herbert recalled before going out to try to turn back the challenge of all the big names in golf except Billy Casper, who passed up the $15,000 tournament.

"I feel great this year, and I'm playing a lot better than I was in 1966 at this time," Herbert said. "I don't know what that means — because when I felt lousy I wound up pretty good last year."

Herbert believes he will have to score much better this year to win, because last year he started with a 71 — five strokes off the lead — and won only when the early leaders faltered.

Herbert's biggest challenge was expected to come from Doug Sanders, who apparently is off to another Florida surge.

The flamboyant Georgian won the Doral Open crown last Sunday to pick up his fourth Florida title in three years, and he likes to play in the state.

By winning, Sanders could join Arnold Palmer as the only double winners on the tour.

Palmer has won the Los Angeles and Tucson titles this year.

All of this year's tournament winners are in the field, including Bob Cooby, Jack Nicklaus, Tom Niepoort, Julius Boros, Palmer and Sanders.

Also battling for the $23,000 jackpot that goes to the winner is Gary Player, South African veteran making his 1967 debut in this country after two triumphs at home.

Palmer was the most impressive in the pro-am, winning par honors with a five-under-par 66 with six birdies and a bogey.

Nicklaus, Frank Beard and Al Geiberger turned in 70s.

Fairview Wins Both Dist. Titles

The Fairview Cardinals won the 1966-67 Div. 4AA basketball title but the race went right down to the wire. Coach Pat Foster's Red & White edged out the Smackover Bucks for the title. Fairview finished the season with a 14-2 mark and Smackover had 13-3.

This is the first division basketball title for the varsity Cardinals. Previously titles had been won by Crossett, Hope, Malvern, and Smackover.

The Fairview Juniors also won the Jr. 4AA title and used this as a springboard to win the State Class AA Jr. championship.

Arkansas S. Finishes 8th in Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's a great honor to finish first in the small-college basketball poll," Jack Hartman, coach of the Southern Illinois Salukis said today, "but we still have to face our biggest challenge."

Hartman referred to the Salukis' opening round game tonight against St. Peter's, N.J. in the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden.

Louisville, this year's second-ranked major college team, and Texas Western, last season's national major college champions, were among Southern Illinois' 20 regular season victims.

The Salukis lost only to Louisville and Southern Methodist.

"We had some other tough ones, though," Hartman noted, "especially the two against Kentucky Wesleyan."

Southern Illinois had a solid lead over Kentucky Wesleyan in the final Associated Press poll, accumulating 12 first-place votes and 147 points while the Panthers from Owensboro had 117 points, but no votes for the top spot.

Lincoln of Missouri, Cheyney State, San Diego State, Indiana State, Akron, Arkansas State, Southwest Missouri and Grambling completed the first 10 in that order.

The final Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-etc. basis:

1. Southern Illinois (12) 147
2. Kentucky Wesleyan 117
3. Lincoln, Mo. 88
4. Cheyney State 77
5. San Diego State 63
6. Indiana State 61
7. Akron 52
8. Arkansas State (1) 35
9. Southwest Missouri 26
10. Grambling 25

PITCHING—Bob Veale (16-12) should be the big winner. After him Pirates have at least five pitchers who can be counted on to win between 10 and 15 games. Woody Fryman (12-9), Vernon Law (12-8), Steve Blass (11-7), Dennis Roberts (11-9) with the Mets, Tommie Sisk (10-5) Low, of course, once was a 20 game winner. So was Juan Pizarro (8-6), an acquisition from the White Sox. Veale could have been a 20-game winner last season, but he gave up too many home runs. Bullpen just as strong. Alvin McBreen (4-3, 3.21), Elroy Face (6-6, 2.70), Billy O'Dell (5-5, 2.63), Pete Miksek (9-8, 3.07). Club extremely high on rookie Luke Walker (11-11) at Columbus. RATING—A-

INFIELD—Best offensive, defensive balance in league. Donn Clendenon (299, 28 HR, 98 RBI) on first. Bill Mazeroski (262, 16 HR, 82 RBI), best in game, on second. Gene Alley (299) developed into a solid shortstop last season. And at third, the most important acquisition. Maury Wills (273). RATING—A

OUTFIELD—Frightening offense. Mottly Alou (342) won National League batting title. MVP Roberto Clemente (317, 29 HR, 119 RBI) is now in the $100,000 bracket. Willie Stargell (315, 33 HR, 102 RBI) keeps Manny Mota (332, unhappy on the bench). RATING—A

CATCHING—Jim Payton, who never wins any races with Bob Hayes, but he's a valuable man behind the plate. Jim hit only 235 last season. Can do much better. Jesse Gonder. Jerry May has backup men. RATING—B

BENCH—Excellent reserves in Mota, Jose Pagan (264). Jose can fill in during infield emergencies. Gonder hit seven home runs some at opportune moments. Ruck (4). George Spriggs (300 at Columbus) may stick as outfield sub. RATING—B

SUMMARY—Power Offensive potential unmatched in either league. Braves come closest in NL but can't match depth of Pirates' pitching staff. Pirates trades should win it. Roberto Pizarro. With excellent additions. PREDICTION—Remember 1960 a repeat. 1ST

Leachville and Searcy Meet Today

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Once-beaten Leachville, The Associated Press high school poll champion, seeks a berth in the semifinals of the Class AA senior boys state basketball tournament today when the Lions battle Searcy at 2 p.m.

In other quarterfinal action Harrison, ranked No. 2 in the final poll, battles Smackover at 6:30 p.m., and West Memphis meets Camden Fairview at 9:30 p.m.

In Wednesday's play, Russellville vaulted into the semifinals with a 79-55 victory over Valley Springs. In first round games West Memphis beat Siloam Springs 47-40 and Camden Fairview stopped Pine Bluff Southeast 65-54.

Russellville, 33-2 for the year, will meet the Leachville-Searcy winner in Friday's semifinals. The Cyclones got 22 points from Jim Marsh and double figure scoring from three others in building a 42-30 halftime lead and winning handily over Valley Springs. John Bryan paced the Tigers with 24.

Barry McMaben scored 35 points as Fairview rolled to its 24th victory in 28 games. McMaben's effort was two points short of a single game record set Tuesday when Benton's Larry Wilson scored 37 points. Ronald Martin paced Southeast with 16 points.

Joe Swayer and Bill McCreery scored 13 points each as West Memphis beat Siloam Springs, using three free throws in the final 50 seconds to put it on ice. Charles Willis had 16 points for Siloam Springs.

Co-Favorites in Triple A Play Meet
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Defending champion Little Rock Central and Fort Smith Northside, a co-favorite this year, collide at 8 p.m. today in the quarterfinals of the Class AAA senior boys state basketball tournament.

In other quarterfinals today Jonesboro takes on Springdale at 12:30 p.m. and North Little Rock meets Hot Springs at 3:30 p.m.

In quarterfinals Wednesday, Blytheville beat Little Rock Horace Mann 60-49 in a first round game. Central beat El Dorado 65-59 and Northside stopped Little Rock McClellan 54-34.

Ron Wilson scored 16 points as Blytheville registered its 25th victory against four defeats. Elijah Mitchell had 18 points for Mann, which never led in the game.

Blytheville clung to a 31-25 halftime lead.

Jerry Schmidt's 22 points carried Central to its victory, leaving the Tigers with a 14-14 record. Central jumped to a 20-6 lead after one quarter but El Dorado rallied, trailed by 10 at halftime and cut the margin to four in the final quarter.

Northside waltzed to an easy victory over McClellan as Tom Butler scored 16 points. Ronnie Roberson had 14 for McClellan.

Narvaez Is Looking for a Fight
NEW YORK (AP) — "If Frankie Narvaez is looking for a fight, he won't have to worry — he'll get one and maybe get knocked out, too."

Ismael Laguna, the former world lightweight champion from Panama, made the comment today after he was told Narvaez called him a "running fighter."

Laguna, the tall, 23-year-old fighter called El Tigre (Tiger) in his native land, and Narvaez, the squat, 27-year-old gambler from Puerto Rico, meet Friday night at Madison Square Garden in a 12-rounder. The winner may get the next shot at champion Carlos Ortiz.

The 5-foot-9 Laguna, winner and loser to Ortiz in title bouts in 1965, is the No. 1 contender. Narvaez, 5-3½, is ranked second.

Laguna won the world crown from Ortiz at Panama City, Panama, April 10, 1965, on a 15-round decision and lost it back to Ortiz on another decision seven months later at San Juan, Puerto Rico. On the same card at San Juan, Narvaez outpointed Joe Brown, another ex-lightweight king, in a semifinal 10-rounder.

Pro Leagues Praised for Draft Action
By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The American and National football leagues received a pat on the back today after doing away with the redshirt draft which had left a number of rednecked college football coaches.

College conference commissioners throughout the country praised Wednesday's announcement that the first combined player draft will be held next week and prohibits selection of athletes redshirted by colleges.

"This is not anything we specifically asked for," said Commissioner Bill Reed of the Big Ten and former chairman of the Professional Relations Committee of the NCAA, "but it is evidence of the cooperation we were led to believe we could expect from pro football."

Dr. Paul Brechler, commissioner of the Western Athletic Conference, also expressed satisfaction at the arrangement.

"It will help college football," he said, "and whatever helps college football can't help but be good for pro football, as well. I felt that this was coming and it should help solve quite a few problems for universities and university athletes."

Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, and A.M. (Tonto) Coleman, commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, joined in the praise and Coleman explained why.

"Not only student athletes but students are taking more than four years to graduate," he said, "and I think it will be better for everybody concerned if they are permitted to finish their college careers without having to be concerned with problems that would result in their being drafted."

"Then, too, I think the pros will have a better evaluating of the athlete's ability and at the same time the athlete can better plan his future."

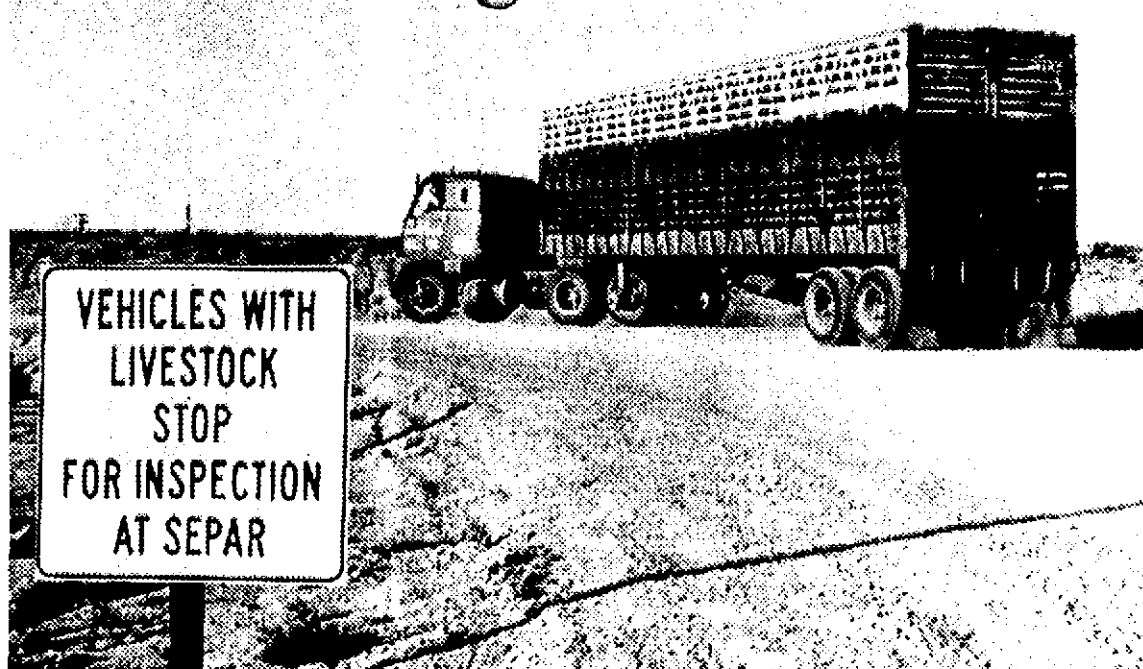

The previous plan allowed the pro leagues to draft redshirts — the NFL in the regular draft and the AFL in a special draft — and it left college coaches angry over losing players who still had a year of eligibility remaining.

A redshirt is a player who sat out a year of football college and retained that year of eligibility after his class has graduated.

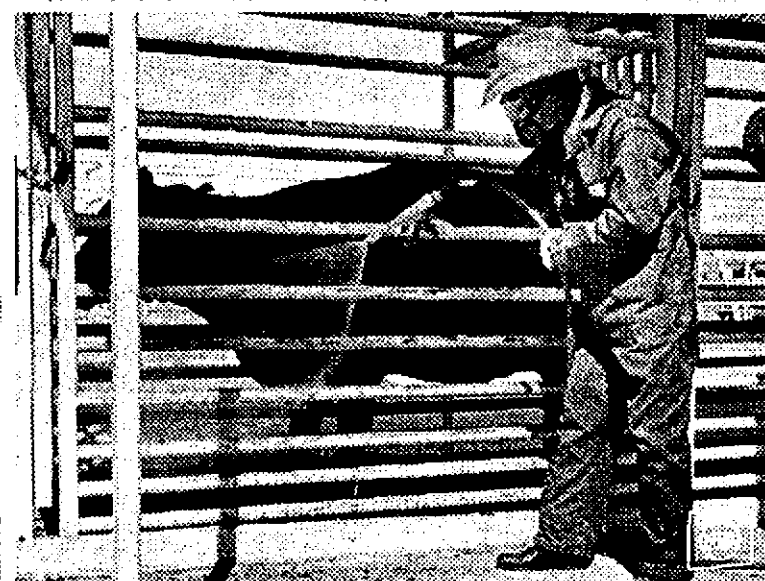

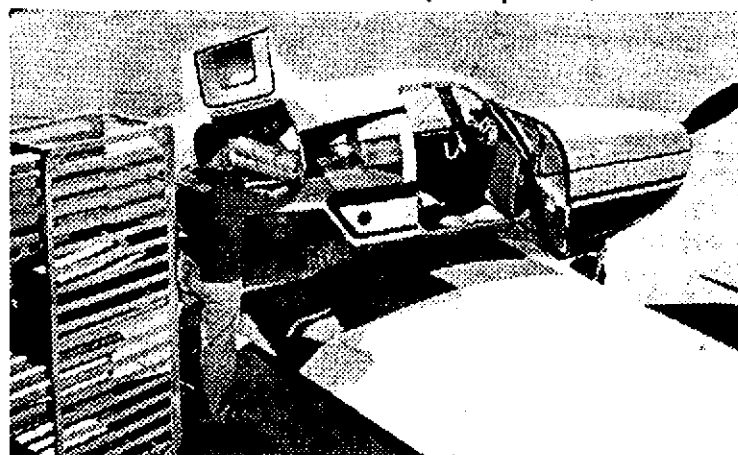

Under the adopted compromise plan, pro Commissioner Pete Rozelle said no player with collegiate eligibility remaining

Winning a Pest War

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is winning a fight against screwworms, tiny pest above right, that once cost heavily in livestock losses. Defenses include state border inspection stations and release of sterile male screwworm flies by airplane, below.

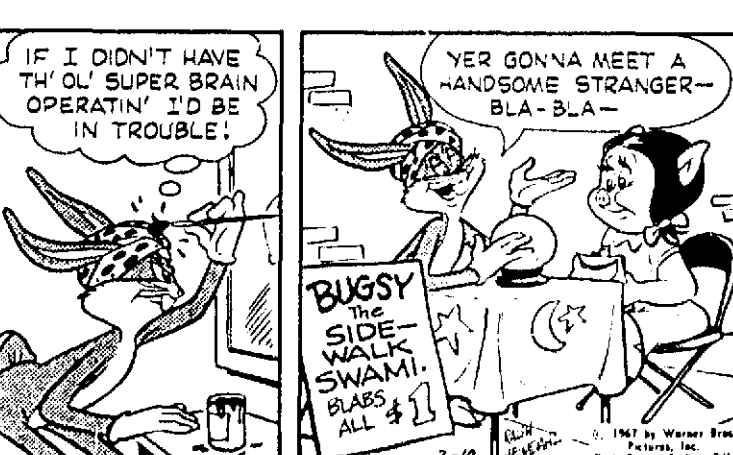

THE FEMALE FLIES mate only once, so mating with a sterile fly means infertile eggs. Spraying at border stations furthers the fight against screwworm infection.

NO GATE CRASHERS HERE
NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) — When Long Island Railroad signal engineers decided to test a new crossing gate with an impact-resistant fiber glass-reinforced plastic arm, they chose the main track crossing here. Reason: motorists had been snapping off crossing arms at the rate of one every three and a half weeks.

On past experience, the railroad's signal engineers felt some driver would put the new fiber glass arm to the test in short order. But there hadn't been a gate accident at this station in the first three months after the experimental gate was installed.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

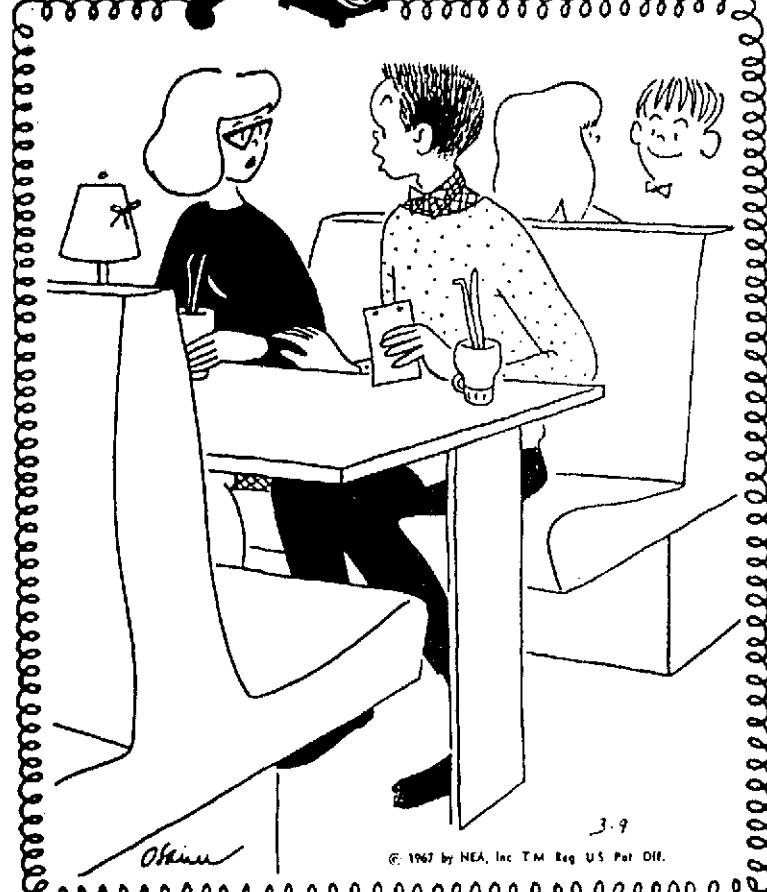

Mongolia is one of the world's least densely populated countries. Bigger than Alaska, it has an area of 628,000 square miles but a population estimated in 1963 to be only 1,019,000—1.6 persons per square mile. According to 'The World Almanac,' many of the people are nomadic and the chief industry of the country is livestock raising. Other activities include food processing, wool-cleaning, shoemaking and mining.

Harlem Anti-White Move Is Bitter

By AUSTIN SCOTT

NEW YORK (AP) — The acridly bitter antiwhite atmosphere that blanketed Harlem's Adam Clayton Powell rally points up some of the contradictions that still plague Negro-white relations, despite a heavy public commitment to ward erasing them.

To the congressmen who excluded him from the House seat he had held for 22 years, and to many other Americans as well, Powell rode congressional privilege to excess, then had the arrogance to act as if he had done nothing wrong.

To many whites, watching a group of Negroes brave cold rain to voice support for a man relaxing in the warm comforts of Blimie Island, it must have seemed that the people of Harlem were being exploited by a man who laughed at conventional morality.

But to the crowd that roared its approval time after time in the packed confines of Abyssinian Baptist Church Sunday only one thing was clear, outsiders were trying to run their affairs.

"That's not the point, man," one young Negro said when it was noted that in the heat of an argument he had criticized Powell's conduct. "We can't let them tell us what we should do."

His answer rang with the kind of pride that the more militant leaders, including Stokely Carmichael and Floyd McKissick, say Negroes need to develop.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who chaired the special House committee that recommended seating Powell with censure and loss of pay and seniority, has said Powell's lack of humility sealed his fate.

But to many of the nation's 22 million Negroes, humility in the face of white attack takes on unsavory overtones. They are constantly reminded by McKissick and others of the kind of crawling their grandfathers and great-grandfathers had to do in the days of slavery, when "upity" Negroes were likely to be lynched.

This distrust of white intentions, plus a firm conviction that Powell, whatever his shortcomings, is the victim of a double standard of morality, ran throughout the speeches that drew the loudest rally.

It appears futile for whites to argue that Powell is more dedicated to his own success than the well being of Harlem. Some Negroes do say so to each other, and they might desert Powell for a political opponent who could match his political flair.

But the motives of whites who attack him are always mistrusted, and in the face of such attacks, Negroes see the old issue of white control, and rally behind the cause of a "brother."

Few Believe Meredith Has Chance

By AUSTIN SCOTT
NEW YORK (AP) — It was one of those tiny, low-profit snack bars that abound on Harlem's Seventh Avenue. James H. Meredith was welcomed into the neighborhood last summer, when he set up a bustling voter-registration headquarters two blocks away.

But now the waitress behind the counter shook her head sadly.

"He don't make sense to me," she said. "I think he's a nice man, but he shouldn't have gotten into this. He's gonna get beat awful bad. He's gonna be ruined in Harlem."

The middle-aged, work-worn woman was speaking about the man who has decided to challenge Democrat Adam Clayton Powell, who was excluded from the House last week.

Meredith, 33, who calls himself an independent Democrat, said he would be willing to run as the Republican candidate for Powell's seat in a special election scheduled for April 11. It remains to be seen how he will do once he begins campaigning.

But since members of the Republican executive committee from the 18th District recommended him two days ago, not a single Harlem community leader, Republican or Democrat, has come forward to support him.

Most had long ago announced their support of Powell, and some had urged that all parties support him, as the Republicans did in 1958.

The one prominent Negro Republican who has spoken up, former baseball star Jackie Robinson, now an aide to Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, called Meredith a "tool," and criticized his own party for making use of him.

A 26-block walk through central Harlem today produced no one on the streets, in bars or barber shops, liquor stores or restaurants, who had a good word for Meredith's chances, and only a few who said they had heard favorable comment.

"I think he's being used," was a common remark.

Robinson said Powell's campaign was not a political issue, but a racial one, and that "no self-respecting Negro should have involved himself in this thing."

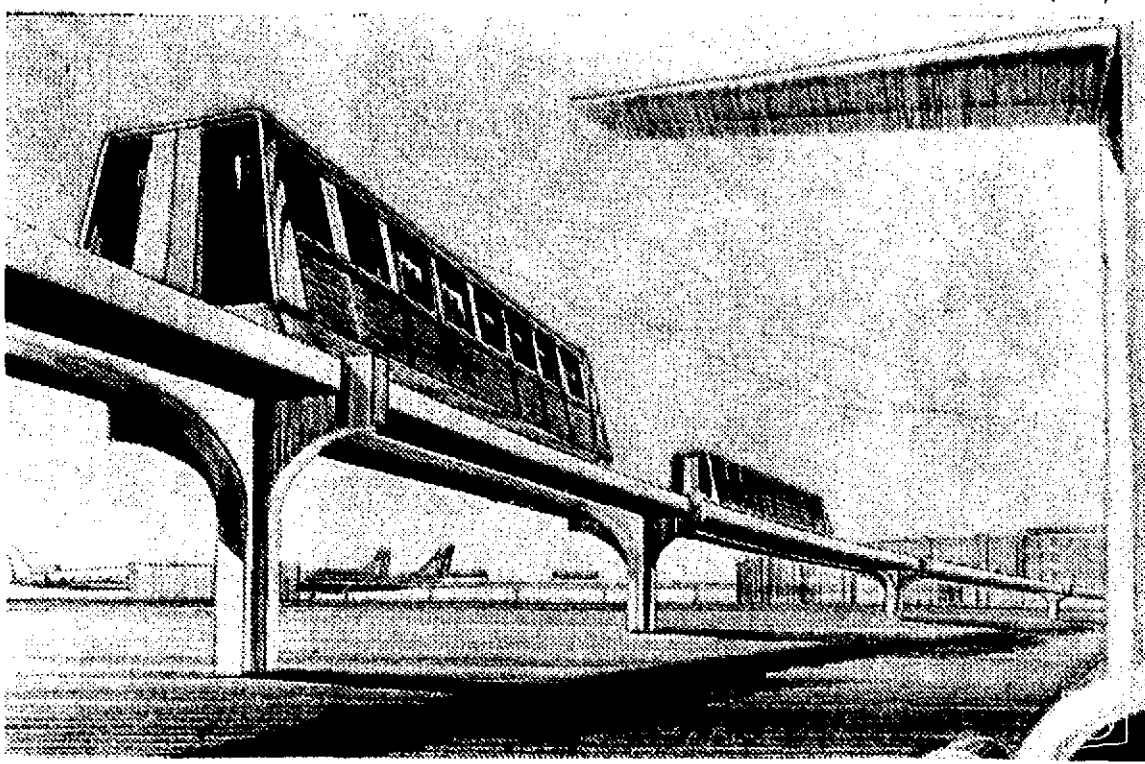

He predicted a hostile reaction to Meredith, and said he believes Powell should be returned with an "overwhelming" vote because "it's an emotional, racial issue, based on what we charge was a conspiracy in the House to get Adam Clayton Powell."

The hostility filtered even into top Harlem Republican circles, where one of the men on the committee that chose Meredith said privately he was not enthusiastic about the candidate's chances.

Terrorists Wound Six Britons

ADEN (AP) — Six Britons attending an outdoor dinner party in Aden Tuesday night were wounded when a terrorist lobbed a grenade into the gathering. Four were hurt seriously.

In a similar incident a week ago two British women were killed and 11 other Britons were wounded in an explosion at a cocktail party. British officials suspect pro-Egyptian nationalists of the terrorism.

ONE MORE STEP toward eliminating steps for travelers at airports are these driverless, rubber-tired vehicles due to be installed at the Tampa International Airport in Tampa, Fla. The passenger transport system, built by Westinghouse Electric, that will whisk passengers from the terminal to their planes is scheduled to be ready for operation in 1969.

Jones Again Hurls Charges at Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Guy Jones' charge that Republicans bought Negro votes in Faulkner County in the general election last November brought a denial Wednesday from a member of the Republican State Committee.

Lonzo A. Ross of Conway said, "There was not a single vote purchased by the (Gov. Winthrop) Rockefeller forces and only a few purchased by the (Democrat Jim) Johnson forces."

Ross issued his statement after the Senate adopted a resolution by Jones requesting an investigation of election activities in Faulkner County in the general election.

"It came to the attention of the Faulkner County Republican Committee in the closing days of the campaign last November that there were a few isolated cases of vote-buying in this county by the Jim Johnson forces," Ross said.

"Our committee paid very little attention and brushed it off as a small part of the dirtiest, filthiest campaign ever conducted in this county," Ross added.

Ross also charged that "there was a great deal of political activity involving the Arkansas Children's Colony which should be looked into, along with other irregularities carried on by the Johnson forces during the campaign."

Jones said in a Senate speech that he had photostats of 29 checks ranging in value from $5 to $50, all written to Faulkner County Negroes and all signed by Wanda L. Tudor.

Wanda Tudor, a receptionist in the governor's office, said she had written the checks but if Jones was "implying that we were buying votes, it's absolutely untrue."

Miss Tudor said the checks were "for legitimate campaign expenses." She declined further comment until she obtained legal advice.

Rockefeller made no comment about the matter Wednesday.

Greek Explosion Injures 6 Persons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ATHENS, Greece (AP) — An explosion in central Athens during the noon rush hour today injured six persons. Two were hospitalized.

Sophocles Tzannetis, minister of public order, said an eyewitness reported the explosion had been caused by a homemade bomb thrown from a building.

Security police said the bomb had gone off about 100 feet from the right-wing newspaper Eleftheros Cosmos (Free World).

They had no clue as to who threw the bomb. An official of the newspaper said he did not think the bomb was intended for them.

Canadians Celebrate Birthday

NEW YORK (AP) — When you're the guest of honor, and you've got a fife and drum corps in tow, and the party's nearly over, and you're two hours late and still stuck in traffic, it's a bit of a sticky wicket, eh, wot?

That's the spot the Honorable James A.C. Auld was in Wednesday night, while the 100th birthday festivities for Canada roared merrily on.

The centennial party, tossed by the Thousand Islands Bridge Authority, began at 5 p.m. Auld, minister of tourism and information for the province of Ontario, was the guest of honor. Coming with him were fifers and drummers from the Fort Henry Guard of Kingston, Ontario, who were to play while a birthday cake bearing 100 candles was lit.

But Auld & Co. didn't arrive until 7 p.m., half an hour before the party ended, because they were caught in snarled traffic between LaGuardia Airport and the Overseas Press Club, in midtown Manhattan.

The party guests made do with cocktails and a string of jokes from toastmaster Harry Hirschfeld until the guests of honor arrived.

Auld rushed in to a storm of applause and the cake was speedily lit. Then followed a flurry of brief speeches in which Canada was wished many happy returns of the day.

Perhaps because of the late arrival of the guests of honor and the speedily approaching end of the party, the cake never got cut or eaten.

NEWEST ADDITION to the FBI's list of Ten Most Wanted Fugitives is Clyde Edward Laws, charged with shooting a Maryland police officer during a gun battle in which he was also wounded following an armed robbery. Laws stands 5-8, weighs 160 pounds, has blue eyes, brown hair, fair complexion, and a medium build. He has small scars on both eyebrows, a scar on the left side of his jaw, and "Mother," a cross and flowers tattooed on the outside of his right forearm.

Raw Opium Seized in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Police have seized more than a ton of raw opium and 200 pounds of raw morphine in two waterfront raids, the Hong Kong Narcotics Bureau announced today.

The haul was valued at about $2 million on the Hong Kong black market, but narcotics agents said after refining it would have been worth more than $30 million to illegal drug dealers in Europe and the United States.

No arrests were announced.

Success Story About Exile From Cuba

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Back in 1960 a Cuban mother and father put William Sabates and his younger brother and two sisters on an airplane for the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Sabates didn't want the children to grow up under the Fidel Castro regime. Three years later the parents fled Cuba and joined the children in Charlotte.

This week the 99 Morehead scholarship winners were announced and one of them was William Sabates.

His A-minus average for four years had been rewarded with a $7,000 scholarship for four-years study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

An athlete as well as top student, Sabates, 17, has played football, basketball and baseball and is on the track team at Charlotte's Catholic High.

Which sports will he play at North Carolina?

"I want to study," he says. "Studies come first. I'll go out for baseball if I have time. I may try basketball."

His studies will be premedcal, with a major in biology. "I want to be an ophthalmologist and I hope to do well enough to earn some graduate help," Sabates said.

Recently he watched an operation at a Charlotte hospital because "I wanted to be sure that's what I wanted to be," the dark-haired boy said. "Now I'm sure."

The faculty at Catholic High is almost as elated as Sabates about the Morehead scholarship. It's the first for the school.

The scholarships are provided by a foundation established by the late John Motley Morehead, who has given millions of dollars to the University of North Carolina. Morehead was founder of the Union Carbide Corp.

CUTS THE TEDIUM

PERTH, Western Australia (AP) — When Kalgoolie housewife Marjorie McBride becomes bored at home, she joins her husband in his goldmine — 65 feet underground.

A slightly built woman, Mrs. McBride has been helping her husband work the mine for a year. She loads broken ore into a bucket to be hauled to the surface.

In one recent week the couple crushed 22 tons of ore for about seven ounces of gold.

"It's just something to do when things get a little monotonous around the home," said Mrs. McBride.

Vernal Catarrh Chronic But Not Contagious

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Our son, 14, has vernal catarrh. What is the cause? Can it be cured?

A—Vernal catarrh is a type of chronic conjunctivitis that tends to improve or disappear during the cold weather and to return every spring or summer. It usually affects both eyes. The cause is unknown but it is not contagious. It is most common in boys who are under 20, and after several years it clears up without causing any damage to the eyes. Eye drops and yellow oxide of mercury ointment help to relieve the weeping and itching.

Q—Every now and then I see a flash like lightning out of the corner of my left eye. Is this just my imagination?

A—Lightning streaks originating within the eye are quite common. They are usually located far to one side and occur in dimly lighted or dark places. They are caused by the involuntary pull of muscles on your eyeball. An examination by your eye doctor should be made. If he can rule out any retinal disease, you have no reason to worry about these flashes.

Q—My doctor says I have blastomycosis. How is it transmitted? Is there any cure for it?

A—This relatively uncommon fungus disease often goes unrecognized because it simulates other diseases such as pneumonia, tuberculosis and cancer of the lung. It may affect the skin or the internal organs but most commonly involves the lungs. It often begins with fever and respiratory symptoms similar to those of influenza but, unlike influenza, it is likely to be chronic. The skin lesions ulcerate and spread very slowly.

The chief source of infection is inhaled dust from contaminated soil. The disease is not transmitted directly from animals to human beings or from man to man. The antibiotic, amphotericin B, given by injection into a vein is the drug of choice. Treatment should be given in a hospital. A not her drug, hydroxystilbamidine, is preferred by some doctors because it is better tolerated. Persons with advanced blastomycosis may have to have infected parts removed surgically.

Q—A friend told me that a person can get pinworms from eating raw eggs. Is that true?

A—No, unless you mean the raw eggs of the pinworm itself. The only hazards associated with eating raw eggs are allergic reactions or a severe case of food poisoning if eggs that have been contaminated with salmonella organisms had cracked shells when purchased.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

The Starling
Visitors From

Voice on the telephone was that of an anguished woman. "You, too, are a friend of the purple martin," she said; "how do you keep the starlings from grabbing the martins' box and running off the rightful owners?"

I told her: "Lower the box to the ground—all martin boxes should be mounted on hinged poles to permit this—and clean out the box, destroying all starling nests and any chicks you find."

"But what do you do if the starlings come back?" she continued. "More of the same," I said—until the starlings finally are discouraged and the martins take over and begin nesting."

If anyone knew a sure way of getting rid of starlings—or sparrows, the editor's pet curse—he could make a fortune... but there is none, except the time-proven method of vigorous and repeated house-cleaning.

The Star has a visitor today, Bonner McCollum, publisher of the daily Forrest City Times-Herald, who is studying our machines and shop routine with the view of possibly converting his own plant to the offset printing system. With him is Clarence Chapman of Jackson, Miss., sales engineer for Fairchild Graphic Equipment, New York, who sold us our big rotary offset press.

Mr. Chapman was at Blytheville yesterday, where the Courier-News, published by Harry Haines, is preparing to become the sixth of Arkansas' 30 dailies to convert to offset. The fifth was the Conway Log Cabin Democrat March 4.

Mr. McCollum's Forrest City Times-Herald is one of the best-printed Arkansas dailies using hot type and a flatbed press. So was Hope Star when it made its conversion at the end of 1965. Why do well-established publishers throw away thousands of dollars' worth of good equipment and install an entirely new plant? There are several reasons. No. 1 being a better product. Other factors are: A cheaper, more flexible operation, plus the elimination of printers—who have virtually vanished from the small cities anyway.

A visitor at The Star plant last week was Charles R. Jacobs, publisher of the weekly Leader-Advertiser of Brookhaven, Miss. Mr. Jacobs' tour of Arkansas newspapers was not to study offset, however. He is considering converting his weekly to a daily without materially changing his printing plant. And in a town of 11,000 population it seemed to this writer to be a justified move.

BULLETIN

URBANA, Ohio. (AP) — A Trans World Airlines DC9 with 21 persons aboard crashed to day just 50 miles from the scene of a crash Sunday which killed 38 persons.

The sheriff's office said some bodies were scattered amid wreckage which landed near the resort community of Meadow Lake about five miles northwest of this central Ohio city.

One report said six ambulances were dispatched with victims from the scene, but it was not known if there were any survivors.

TWA in Chicago identified the plane as Flight 553, which goes from New York to Chicago with a stop at Dayton, about 30 miles to the south. TWA said the 70-passenger plane had 21 aboard.

The crash scene was identified as not far from the Urbana Airport, which does not have regular airline service.

Insurance Co. License Revoked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The certificate of authority under which the Life of Arkansas Insurance Co. has been operating was revoked Wednesday, announced Insurance Commissioner John Norman Harkey.

It was revoked for "specific reasons of deficiency of assets," Harkey said in a letter to R. E. Phillips, president of the firm.

The firm also had violated the state insurance code, Harkey said, by failing to produce records for examination by state insurance auditors. He also said the firm failed to pay a final judgment in a reasonable length of time.

Legislature Approves Extension

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An Arkansas Senate freshman shook his head in confusion. "It reminds me of a covey of quail," he shouted above the bedlam in the chamber, "all of 'em taking off in different directions!"

And indeed, with all the whir and flutter that accompanied the Senate's 8½-hour session Wednesday, his analogy was appropriate. Despite the apparent pandemonium, however, the Senate was nesting comfortably atop an impressive pile of legislation by the time it adjourned at 6:30 p.m.

It had acted on 65 measures, averaging one every eight minutes, during what one observer called the most productive session of the current General Assembly. Included in that total were 15 pieces of major legislation, among them nine bills that were considered of key importance to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's legislative program.

Much of the Senate's haste (it approved 10 routine budget bills in 30 minutes, an average of one every three minutes) was due to uncertainty as to whether the House would adopt a resolution by Sen. Morrill Gathright of Pine Bluff.

That resolution, which the House approved 74-21 provides for the legislature to recess from noon Friday until noon March 27, when it will come back for what apparently will be a five-day extension of the regular 60-day session.

The General Assembly normally would have adjourned sine die at noon today, but because the revenue stabilization bill wasn't introduced until Wednesday, the legislature felt there wouldn't be time to digest the bill's contents.

The revenue stabilization bill, which determines how the state will slice its fiscal pie during the 1967-69 biennium, couldn't be written until the appropriation bills had been approved. The legislature delayed approval of the appropriation bills until it could get Rockefeller's budget recommendations, which were late in coming.

Always Shock to New Husbands to Find the Wife's Will Is Steel

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement plato:

The more a man matures, the more he secretly comes to admire the iron whims of women. Those whims are the real pillars of civilization as we know it.

It is always a shock to a man to find out shortly after the honeymoon is over that the soft, compliant creature he married has a will of unyielding steel.

"I thought my wife would go through life jumping every time I snapped my fingers," he confides to an older married buddy. "She may look like a little bunny, but inside her mind she has got claws like a tiger."

"They all have," replies the marital veteran. "What seems to be your main gripe about your bride?"

"Well, I don't know just how to say it, but she seems to want everything to be perfect."

"They're all that way."

"Every last one of them. And if you're smart, you'll start getting used to it right now. Otherwise you'll waste the best years of your life fighting her—and still wind up losing."

It is hard for a man to do this. He can't see why his bride gets angry if he comes home an hour late. He can't understand why she is annoyed if a restaurant headwaiter seats them at a table near the kitchen when, after all, the food tastes the same no matter where you sit.

He can't see why she wants to eat at home by candlelight, or why she gets in a blue funk if the new draperies hang a touch

Merchants Told About Thousands of Dollars Lost Yearly to Thieves Hospital Room Rates Increased

This week the Board of Governors of Hempstead County Memorial Hospital met and voted on a rate increase of $3.00 per room effective April 1, 1967, as follows:

Semi-Private $18.00
Semi-Private with adjoining bath $20.00
Private $20.00
Private with adjoining bath $21.00
Private with private bath $24.00

This increase is necessary due to rising cost in all departments of the hospital, but particularly a salary increase of approximately $37,000 per year resulting from the recent federal minimum wage law.

The business of Hempstead County Memorial Hospital has advanced at this time to 115 persons. Ten years ago the annual payroll amounted to $87,000, now the annual estimated payroll is $312,000. Hospital expenses ten years ago amounted to $120,000, now, the estimated expenses amount to $187,000 annually.

Federal legislation, including Medicare and minimum wage laws, have placed a great financial burden on the hospital, but in spite of this, we still have as our goal, continued progress in rendering to the people of Hempstead County and the surrounding territory, the best possible patient care.

Lyle Easterling, Business Manager of the Branch General Hospital states that he does not contemplate raising the room rates at this time. The hospital raised the rates three months ago, and it is hoped that it can operate without further increase.

In addition to the increase cost of labor, the Branch Hospital has just completed install a $15,000 sprinkling system and the entire physical plant is being painted and re-decorated throughout. The room rates range from $13 to $17 for semi-private and private from $14 to $23.

Interstate Turnpike Pact Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has been asked to explore the possibility of creating interstate turnpike compacts with governors of neighboring states.

The request came from the Arkansas Turnpike Authority, which held its first meeting here Wednesday since its recent creation by the General Assembly.

Authority members expressed concern over an Oklahoma plan to build a north-south turnpike within 20 miles of the Arkansas border.

Such a bill has passed the Oklahoma House and is pending in the Senate.

Rockefeller left the meeting briefly to talk with Oklahoma Gov. Dewey Bartlett. When he returned, Rockefeller said the Oklahoma bill had "a pretty low" priority.

Rockefeller said he and Bartlett would meet April 13 to discuss an interstate compact.

State Highway Director Ward Goodman suggested that the authority take steps first to set out what parts of the state to consider for turnpikes and to make preliminary studies of their feasibility.

Diversion of SS Funds Is Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government may have to divert to the medicare program Social Security funds earmarked for retirement benefits, says Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Arkansas Democrat said Wednesday climbing hospital costs threaten to plunge medicare into the red.

He mentioned as possibility for keeping the program financially healthy a hike in the medicare tax or tapping of the retirement fund.

Mills' comments came after officials of the American Hospital Association testified at the committee's hearings on President Johnson's proposed Social Security increase proposals.

The AHA officials estimated that hospital expenses will average $57.93 a day for each patient by next September — an increase of 18.6 per cent in a year. They predicted further increases during the next three to five years.

Mills said the projected rate of increase is about twice that estimated by Congress in setting the medicare tax of ½ per cent on workers and employers, limited to the first $6,600 a person earns. The tax is scheduled eventually to reach 8-10 per cent.

Mills said the portion of Social Security taxes that goes for retirement benefits is producing a slight surplus.

Johnson's Social Security plans count on using this surplus plus more payroll tax revenues to finance higher benefits.

New Musical Director at 1st Assembly

PHILIP HASTIE

First Assembly of God has announced that Philip Hastie has been hired to serve the church in the capacity of Minister of Youth and Music.

Mr. Hastie comes to Hope from Malvern where his father, the Rev. David A. Hastie, is pastor of the First Assembly of God.

Phil received his ministerial training at Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahatchie, Texas, and Central Bible College in Springfield, Missouri.

He was granted license to preach by the Arkansas District Council of the Assemblies of God.

Mr. Hastie will be residing, for the present, at 609 South Elm. The Rev. Mr. Whitliffe, pastor of the church, stated that he believed Phil would make a very valuable contribution to the spiritual lives of the youth of First Assembly of God and of Hope.

Special St. Mark's Speaker

The Rev. George L. Sixbey, Ph.D., will conduct Morning Prayer and preach at St. Mark's Episcopal Church at 8:30 Sunday morning, it was announced today by the Rev. Fred Hancock, Vicar of the local congregation. Prior to his ordination last month Dr. Sixbey was a communicant of St. James' Episcopal Church in Magnolia.

Father Hancock also pastors but is now assigned to the staff of Trinity Cathedral, Little Rock.

Powell Case Pushing Congress to Rules Policing Own Conduct

By GAYLORD SHAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Adam Clayton Powell case is pushing Congress to the brink of drafting meaningful rules to police its own conduct.

To date, more than 75 bills proposing ethical standards for representatives have been introduced in the House, most of them born in the controversy stirred by the high-flying Harlem preacher.

There were many last year, too. But they got nowhere.

Still other bills have been introduced in the Senate. There, a special ethics committee — set up after revelations of the wheeling and dealing of Bobby Baker — is investigating allegations that Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., converted to personal use funds raised for him at campaign and testimonial dinners. Dodd denies the charges.

The drive for some sort of ethical guidelines is being spurred on by an outpouring of words from members worried about growing public suspicion of the moral climate in Congress.

Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., said Wednesday the

Reuther Is Trying to Curb Rebels

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers struggled today with the problems of a rebellious Ohio union local that defied officials and struck a General Motors plant for the second time in 16 days.

The strike Wednesday night by members of Local 549 at GM's strategic Mansfield, Ohio, parts plant put pressure on Reuther to decide how to enforce a trusteeship he slapped on the dissident unit earlier in the day.

Ninety per cent of the 300 workers on the overnight shift failed to report for duty at the GM facility. Their action followed by hours a strike vote by about 1,500 of the 2,600 members of Local 549.

UAW officials called an emergency meeting of the union's national General Motors council to discuss the uprising. The meeting was set for 2 p.m. EST. Reuther appointed an administrator to take over the reins from local president Robert Hall, who had been summoned to Detroit for talks with UAW executives. The UAW said Hall and other officers endorsed the trusteeship.

GI Losses Highest of Vietnam War

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — The highest American losses of the Vietnam war were announced today, reflecting the steadily rising U. S. military effort and Communist retaliation with heavier mortar attacks, mines, booby traps and hit and run assaults.

The total casualties last week were 1,617 killed, wounded and missing. It included 232 dead, 1,381 wounded and four missing. Most were in the small skirmishes and fleeting Red jobs that have characterized the recent fighting.

While the over-all total was the highest of the war, the total of 232 killed was exceeded by one week in November, 1965, when 240 Americans died. But most of that death toll came in the fierce Ia Drang Valley battle, not in engagements scattered the length of South Vietnam.

The U. S. Command reported 1,736 Communists were killed last week, well above average but not a record. However, South Vietnam's "open arms" program to attract defectors dealt the Reds a hard blow. A record weekly total of 1,168 Communist soldiers and political workers came into allied lines waving the slips of paper granting them amnesty for turning on the Reds.

Allied statistics show the open arms program is attracting defectors at twice the rate of last year.

Another sign of the stepped-up war was the lifting of security wraps on the first major offensive operation in the Mekong Delta by troops of the U. S. 9th Infantry Division, the first big U. S. ground unit to be permanently assigned to that vital area which contains about one third of South Vietnam's 15 million people and grows 80 per cent of its rice.

The division's 3rd Brigade arrived at Dong Tam, about 40 miles southwest of Saigon, in late January and has been digging in. The U. S. Command announced that more than 1,500 men of the brigade began sweeping the surrounding Viet Cong-infested paddy land two days ago in Operation Palm Beach.

In a series of skirmishes, the brigade has killed 42 Viet Cong in the operation, a U. S. spokesman said. Communist retaliation cost the brigade nine dead and four wounded in ground combat and two dead and 10 wounded when the Reds mortared the Dong Tam camp Wednesday.

The brigade's security sweep signals the beginning of stepped-up U. S. efforts in the delta, where 100 or more U. S. Navy small craft are also stationed to sweep into the narrow waterways with supporting fire. Three South Vietnamese divisions have borne the brunt of the fighting in the delta until now.

Democrats Gearing for Gov. Romney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are leading their files with Michigan Gov. George Romney's varying Vietnam statements and National Chairman John M. Bailey is preparing to blast the potential GOP presidential contender.

In the absence of action on such major issues as Negro representation on state delegations, the Democratic National Committee is expected to step up its attacks on prospective 1968 foes as it begins meeting today.

The meeting is the committee's first in a year and comes in the wake of widespread criticism by Democratic leaders around the country of the committee's activities during last fall's election campaign.

Informal, closed meetings with party leaders and Johnson administration officials are planned today with a formal business meeting Friday. No one around party headquarters professes to be quite sure whether President Johnson will attend any of the sessions. His name does not appear on the advance agenda.

Woody Allen Knows Himself

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Woody Allen was eating soup he didn't really want but couldn't refuse because the waiter kept telling him how good it was.

Woody had arrived a bit late because he had been at his analyst's, and "every minute is so expensive" he wanted to use all he was allowed.

The slight redhead adjusted his glasses and spoke calmly. He seemed more relaxed than he used to be and overflowing with plans and security.

"Am I more secure? I don't think about it. Every one says I'm calmer, but I don't feel calm. I don't see any change in my personality or metabolism. Has marriage helped me? I can't imagine it would make me calmer."

Whatever it is, calm, serene, soft-spoken Woody is in the midst of a success maelstrom that could send a contemplative monk into a tizzy. His first Broadway play, "Don't Drink the Water," is a success. He has a role in the forthcoming James Bond movie, "Casino Royale." He changed a Japanese spy movie into a comedy by writing dubbed-in dialogue. It's now called "What's Up, Tiger Lily?"

He is working on his second Broadway play, which he will star in and he is making plans for another movie he has written ("What's New, Pussycat?") his first, was a top

TOM TIEDE IN VIETNAM

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

KONTUM, Vietnam (NEA)—The proponents of modern psychological warfare believe that the microphone is mightier than the mortar.

And sometimes it is.

Take Cecil Holland's sometime as an example. He's a psy-war trained lieutenant from Orlando, Fla., who recently spearheaded what was the most successful hi-fidelity combat assault of the war.

The activity took place on a jungle battleground. At the time, a U.S. battalion from the 101st Airborne Division was energetically pursuing several hundred enemy soldiers along the sides of several hills.

The fight was cat-and-mouse. The GIs advanced, shooting at every shadow, while enemy guerrillas would stand slugging for a moment, then beat it off into the forest.

U. S. troops poured thousands upon thousands of rifle rounds into the brush, hitting many trees and few guerrillas. The other side fired less often, preferring mostly snipe shot to cover their retreat.

It went on like that. Progress was elusive.

And then Cecil Holland took over.

Climbing a large tree, the lieutenant rigged up a bulky, 50-pound public address system. He pushed the amplifying horns into the branches and let the wires dangle down along the trunk. Then he plugged in, switched on, and listened to the metallic hum with satisfaction.

That finished, he quickly scribbled out a message of propaganda and opened his vocal attack on the startled enemy.

"This is a government appeal," he broadcast.

The sound echoed, shooting stopped.

"You are fighting a senseless battle," Holland droned. "If you continue, you will be killed. But if you surrender now, you will live."

The booming voice had an eerie effect in the midst of the confrontation. It filtered unevenly in the winds and was so strongly imposing that it bristled the hair on a listener's neck.

"Give up," Holland stressed. Some shots rang out.

"Give up or be killed," Holland read and reread the message. He altered it and emphasized the harsh alternatives. He said that the struggle was useless; he told the enemy they were outnumbered, that they were also outgunned.

As the broadcast continued, the fight flared intermittently. Grenades splattered. Commands were shouted back and forth along the broken U.S. position. Young men and old men wriggled along the damp jungle floor and ran white-faced from tree to tree.

"This is a government appeal," Holland repeated.

A machine gun chattered. "You will be given food."

A GI fell wounded.

"Give up or be killed," Suddenly the broadcast was interrupted by a rustling noise to Holland's front. The lieutenant gawked at the moving bushes and saw a figure.

Two figures. They were enemy soldiers. They approached meekly with their hands high in the air.

"Well," Holland sighed, "I'll be damned."

After that, the broadcasts gained impetus. The two defectors agreed to make personal appeals. They mentioned good treatment and medical aid. And one by one, other guerrillas stumbled toward the U.S. lines.

New messages were written. The microphone was moved to follow the backstepping enemy. Armed only with words, the lieutenant waged his stereophonic battle until enemy contact was broken completely.

In the end, the mathematics of Cecil Holland's campaign were remarkably one-sided. He suffered a slight loss of voice and a sore throat but the enemy suffered almost total demoralization.

It was, indeed, a micro phone massacre.

the fun of seeing "Casino Royale," when I get to see it, will be going to the theater on a Saturday night with my wife and sitting in the balcony."

He has little interest in directing for the theater, but "I'm nuts to direct films. I'm wild over movies. As a child I went to movies as much as seven times a week. The mothers in the neighborhood wouldn't let their sons play with me because all I did was drag them to the movies."

Multitalented, 31-year-old Woody, who married actress Louise Lasser on Groundhog Day in 1966 "for sentimental reasons," doesn't really have any trouble identifying himself to himself.

"I call myself a writer-comedian," he said, giving the two words equal stress. "Soon I'll be a writer-comedian-director. I would hate to have to give any of them up. I would hate never to perform again or never to write again, even if it meant it was because I was so successful in one I couldn't do the other."

Grandfather may have had an allergy for dog hair. When he so much as touched the dog or even a place where the dog had been lying, the skin on his hands became red and irritated.

It explained what he called his off-and-on eczema, though he might never have connected these two occurrences.

Granddaughter, early in life, shows distinct reactions to ragweed pollen. With our present knowledge it is immediately recognized as a hay fever allergy.

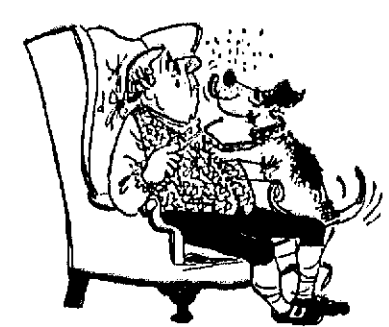

Experts are beginning to see that a chain of heritages may be present in these sensitivities.

"By definition, allergy is simply a sensitivity to things which are harmless in themselves," says the new handbook, "Allergy," just published by the Allergy Foundation of America. "That is, things harmless to most human beings but not to an allergic person."

There seem to be some vague over-all patterns.

It would appear that individuals are seldom born with allergies. At worse, they are born with susceptibility to allergic disease. Years of research has uncovered many cases of grandparent-grandson, parent-child or uncle-nephew bridges. Oddly, the generations need not, necessarily, react to the same agent. Only the tendency to sensitivity seems constant.

Furthermore, a relationship between some of the allergic "bombs" seems to be established.

Those violently affected by poison ivy may also have trouble from touch contact with the plants of tumbleweed, daisies, tulips, pine, celery, potatoes and oranges, all of which have a resin that is dissolved by the skin oils.

A common protein of insects belonging to one family (Hymenoptera) affect those endangered by insect bites. If allergic to bees, the individual must also avoid hornets, yellow jackets, wasps and fire ants.

Food is linked in tricky ways. If peanuts touch off reactions, walnuts or cashews might be utterly harmless though there is danger in peas, lima beans, soybeans and other related legumes.

It is a strange and mysterious drama in which only the doctor can act as a detective. Who, for instance, would suspect that a person testing out as allergic to mercury might be getting a severe skin flare-up from residue of a broken thermometer, his child's chemistry set or a bottle of mercurochrome?

The allergist would have these suspicions and, as the facts accumulate, the profile of this medical villain, allergy, becomes clearer.

Day-Bright

FRESH AS A summer morning and cool as a breeze is this easy-to-wear two-piece. The reason is the bright-banded scoop-neckline, the very sleeveless overblouse, plus slightly fitted top which continues into a pleated skirt. If you like, make it with short sleeves and frame the neckline with the soft bow-tied collar. An accompanying Coordinator shows ways to vary this young costume.

B-90 is for sizes 9, 11, 12, 13, 14, 16, 18. Bust 30 1/2 to 32. Size 11, bust 31 1/2. 3 1/2 yards of 35-inch fabric.

High Court Is Ruled by Liberals

AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberal justices dominate this Supreme Court and even if some of them retire in the next few years, so long as Lyndon B. Johnson remains President the court probably will remain liberal.

With his far-reaching liberal programs, some involving welfare in many ways, Johnson seems unlikely to jeopardize by appointing conservatives to the high bench.

Justice Tom C. Clark said this week he would step down by the end of June. At age 67 he is very close to the average retirement age of justices — 67 1/2 years — down through American history.

But there are four other justices 67 or older: Chief Justice Earl Warren, 75; and Justices Hugo Black, 81; William O. Douglas, 68; and John Marshall Harlan, 67.

If Warren, Black and Douglas were guided by the average retirement age, they'd be gone now. Their average age is 74. But there have been some notable exceptions to the average.

The best example is Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes who didn't quit until he was 90.

As the history of the 96 men who have sat on the court shows, the age of a justice doesn't necessarily mean he is not a good justice simply because he is up in years.

Some justices, including some of the best, weren't appointed until they were in their 60s. Holmes was 61, Louis D. Brandeis, 60, and Benjamin N. Cardozo, 62.

And these three chief justices were in their 60s when they were appointed to take charge: Warren, 62, William Howard Taft, 54, and Charles Evans Hughes, 58.

All these bits of arithmetic prove is that there is no mathematical formula for predicting when any justice figures he has had enough. Justice William Brennan is 60. Only three justices are under that age: Abe Fortas, 56, Potter Stewart, 52, and Byron R. White, 49.

Thus, while the average age of the present members is 67 1/2 years, this court has had a continuity of outlook, starting with the 1954 decision outlawing public school segregation, that has made it the strongest in history and the most liberal.

Yet, only four of the present justices — Warren, Black, Douglas and Clark — were on the court at the time of the 1954 ruling. All four of them approved it.

Youth — or comparative youth — is no guarantee that a justice will be more liberal than his elders. The two youngest members of this court — White and Stewart — along with Harlan are the most conservative.

The three oldest members — Warren, Black and Douglas — along with Brennan and Fortas make up the dominant liberal majority.

This doesn't mean they vote together on every issue, but do so enough times to give the court its steadily liberal direction. Sometimes, when one or more of them dissents, the remaining liberals can't get a decision through unless joined by one or more of the conservatives.

Next to the school desegregation ruling, perhaps the most courageous act of the Supreme Court since 1954 was the decision requiring state legislatures to reapportion themselves to give more equal representation to state citizens.

The court long had held back from butting into this political ambush. But the court also showed courage in banning compulsory prayers in public schools, in toning down the hysteria about communism in the 1950's, and protecting the rights of individuals, including criminals.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS SPACIOUS yet compact house has the living room and larger of two bedrooms facing the front. A large screened porch is hidden behind the wall of the carport, thus giving privacy for outdoor dining. An unusual feature of the house is the 5 by 13 storage room accessible both from the kitchen and the garden. A battery of back-to-back closets assures soundproofing between bedrooms. Plan HA489R is a masonry house topped with a tar and gravel, gently pitched saddle roof which extends in an unbroken line over the carport and the porch. It was designed by Jan Reiner, 1000 52nd Street North, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Apple Roly-poly

OLD-FASHIONED TREAT—apple roly-poly.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

U.S. Baffled by Coolness of Enemy

Even if your teen-agers belong to the "hippie" set, a dish of old-fashioned apple roly-polys with whipped cream might not destroy their vision of a totally free life. In fact, it might even improve their vision on life. The hippies don't usually eat as well as the squares, you know.

Try it. At least the other members of the family will greet these roly-polys with ravenous nostalgia.

This recipe comes from a friend in the state of Washington famous for its golden delicious and winesap apples.

EASY APPLE ROLY-POLYS

Pastry:

- 2 sticks prepared pastry mix
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

Filling:

- 3 Washington apples (3 cups diced)
- 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 tablespoons molasses
- 1/2 cup raisins, washed
- 1 cup walnut meats, chopped
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Pastry: Make pastry following directions on package, adding spices. Roll out on lightly floured board to a 16x12 inch rectangle, about 1/4 inch thick.

Filling: Peel, core and dice apples combine with brown sugar, molasses, raisins and walnuts. Spread apple filling on pastry to within 1 or 1 1/2 inches of edges. Dot with butter or margarine. Starting with the 16-inch side, roll up carefully, pinch edges and brush with a little water to seal. Protect ends of roll with foil to catch juices. Carefully transfer to a jellyroll pan or hot baking dish. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) about 25 minutes, reduce heat to 400 degrees and continue to bake

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration looks baffled by the failure of the North Vietnamese to give some sign they will cool down their part of the war if the United States stops bombing them.

They have a good reason for sticking it out as long as they can, since their goal is to communize all Vietnam. They would have to make concessions and their supporters might lose heart if they stopped fighting to talk peace.

They may have another reason, just as valid to them, for yielding nothing: the hope that if they hang on long enough American politics and public opinion may force the Johnson administration to back down.

They know American public opinion is divided. The antiwar hubbub here, in and out of Congress, is heard around the world. No wonder if the North Vietnamese believe, given time, the antiwar opinion will prevail.

Nor would it be a wonder if both political parties take on a more dovish-like look as the American presidential election draws near if by then the antiwar feeling grows more intense here.

tion to use Navy guns against North Vietnam. But another Democrat, Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Pa., was unhappy.

He wanted Congress to make it necessary to declare war before continuing the bombing raids. He spoke three hours. But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., was against the idea.

Such a declaration, he said, might bring into force treaties involving the Soviet Union, Red China, and others in the hostilities. At the same time he hit at Johnson for being too soft, saying he had been victimized by false peace rumors.

Another Southern Democrat, Sen. John L. McClellan, of Arkansas, wanted to see the bombing stepped up. But not Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat and constant critic of Johnson. He said you can't seek peace with bombs.

In the House 11 Democrats opposed the bombing. Michigan State University faculty members called for a halt to it. Antiwar demonstrations continue around the country.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, another Arkansas Democrat and a constant Johnson critic, suggested it might be more profitable to bomb North Vietnam's bicycles, rather than its bridges, since the Communists depend on bicycles so much.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara publicly admitted the bombing had not stopped North Vietnam's supplies to the south but thought the bombing helped South Vietnam's morale.

Hoffa Just Another Inmate

By WILLIAM DIEBLER
LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — James Hoffa will be just another inmate behind the walls of the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., according to Warden Jacob J. Parker.

Wearing a two-piece blue denim suit and black low-cut shoes, Hoffa started his first full day in this federal penitentiary today. Parker said he had no plans to meet with Hoffa for the first few days and that, like the 1,700 other inmates, Hoffa will work to earn his spending money. He will get no special mail or visiting privileges, said Parker.

Federal marshals brought Hoffa here Tuesday to start an eight-year term for jury tampering. Eventually said Parker, he'll settle into a routine, but for the first month, he'll be going through an indoctrination of sorts. Parker said Hoffa's first stop was the supply room, where he turned in his business suit for three two-piece blue denim uniforms. Parker added that the uniforms would later be "tailored to meet his needs."

Hoffa's first live to seven days in prison, Parker said, are to be spent as a member of an "admission unit," undergoing a physical examination and a series of interviews with the chaplain, education and vocational specialists and a case worker. During this period he will be given a temporary work assignment, probably some kind of service-type work.

Except for work assignments, members of the admission unit move as a group, even for recreation periods.

"This is an orientation period for both the inmates and the clinic staff," Parker said.

Parker said that after 30 days, Hoffa will get a permanent job and be assigned to permanent quarters. Each inmate at Lewisburg has his own cell. "We get about 1,000 admissions a year here," Parker said. "I can't have a personal meeting with each man when he arrives. I'll see him (Hoffa) when I float through the institution."

Franklin D. Roosevelt vetoed more bills than any other U.S. president, 631 in all, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Be Prepared for the Day When the Lights Go Out

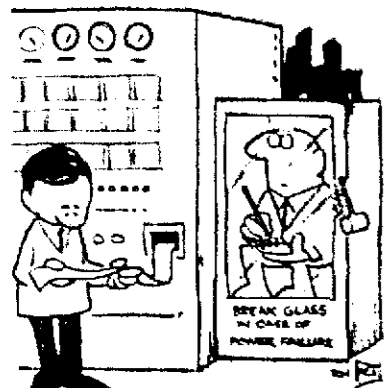

By MR. FIX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

So dependent are we on electricity that a sudden power failure can leave us helpless. Worse, not knowing what to do can cause other problems. It is a wise homeowner who prepares for the day a storm will leave his house without electricity.

It would be ideal if every home had its own standby power supply, but the cost of a generator is prohibitive—especially when you consider how little it would be used.

Certain supplies which are inexpensive can be kept on hand, however. It is important to know where they are as well as having them. Place them where they are easily found in the dark.

Emergency Light
Have more than one flashlight for portable light supply.

Be prepared for a power failure.

Keep extra dry cells with them. Candles and matches plus a holder of some sort for the candle should be kept handy. This is a dependable and inexpensive light source.

Better yet are lanterns—gasoline, propane or kero-

which sometimes happens. Motors work faster trying to make up for the missing voltage and the result is burned-out windings and contacts.

If an electric light bulb burns dimly you do not have full power. It will burn brightly when full power is restored.

Food Problems
A power failure always brings the danger of spoilage of food stored in freezers and refrigerators. Foods in a freezer will keep for about 36 hours if you refrain from opening the door.

Use foods that do not need refrigerating, or which can be kept on a porch or window sill if the weather is cool. In warm weather, dry ice will keep the contents frozen—something to remember if your freezer ever stops operating for any reason.

If the power is off the heat probably is off, too, since most furnaces use electric motors for blowers, electricity for thermostats. If you depend on electricity for cooking there is another problem.

A propane stove, if you have one, is excellent. Inexpensive are those that use canned heat. Keep outside doors closed if the weather is cold and stay together in one room. A house will cool off slowly if kept closed and the power may be restored before it becomes too cold.

Using a portable barbecue for indoor cooking is dangerous. Use only in a ventilated area, or better yet, outdoors.

Thinks Pricing Milk Foolish

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The executive vice president of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation says it "is clearly foolish for Arkansas to jump into milk price control while other states are abandoning it."

Waldo Frasier said only 12 states now control milk prices whereas 29 formerly did.

The legislature passed a bill Friday creating a dairy control commission. Frasier said evidence available to the bureau indicated that prices to the consumer had risen in states where commission existed.

Scotland was known to the ancient Romans as Caledonia.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Why was Gunsmoke bushwhacked? The elderly CBS Western isn't on next season's schedule and here's the howcome of it.

The contracts of all the principals—Jim Arness, Amanda Blake and Milburn Stone—were up for renewal. All three are rich and don't need to work any more. They were set to demand big salary boosts.

The series was still doing moderately well in the ratings and it would have been renewed—if it had been an inexpensive show. But it stood to be a very expensive show and so the network decided it just wasn't worth it. Economics rides again.

April 3 is a day for anybody over 30 to circle on their calendars. On that night, CBS will present a program bearing the lengthy name, The Sid Caesar-Imogene Coca-Carl Reiner-Howard Morris Special. It is the grandson of Your Show of Shows, that diamond of television's ancient history.

"We insisted," Reiner says, "that the show wasn't a repeat of some old skits. We wanted to show the public how our talents had been honed with experience. We wanted to do a program as though Show of Shows had continued over the years, as though this was just one of our '67 programs."

Carl thinks this special is better than any of the others. And it came off so well that

EXPLORER I

The United States first satellite, Explorer I, was launched to orbit the earth on January 31, 1958. It was launched by James A. Van Allen, director of the Radiation Belt Observing Project.

Artificial earth satellites mark the beginning of the "Space Age."

The U.S.S.R. orbited the first in October 1957. The United States took closely with Explorer I.

used in orbiting Explorer I.

PRESS THE SAME firing command button that started the satellite's journey.

REMEMBER EXPLORER I, the first satellite launched by the United States? It is still clinging tenaciously to space, just as another explorer, Girl Scout Diana Crawford of Huntsville, Ark., is clinging to a model of the space vehicle here. Diana was born on the same day Explorer I was launched—Jan. 31, 1958. The model shown here is on display at the space flight center at Huntsville.

there will probably be a couple a year for the next year or so.

Carl Reiner has come a long way since his second banishment days with Caesar on Your Show of Shows. Now he's a respected elder statesman of television—The Dick Van Dyke Show was his, remember—and an actor of note and his major achievement may be a play he just wrote.

"I didn't have anything to do," he says. "So I wrote this play in four weeks. I think it's the best thing I've done and it may be the best thing I'll ever do. It's called 'Something Different.' I'd like to direct it and maybe produce it, too."

He's going to be executive producer of a new series, Good Morning, World, about two disc jockeys, which will be on CBS next fall.

NOTABLES' QUOTABLES

"Stars today must be executives. In the old days, the studios handled everything, made all the decisions for a star. But now I have to do it all myself."—James Coburn.

"My father was a doctor, but I didn't like to study. I found that acting was the only thing I could do for 12 hours without being bored or frustrated. It's still true—except when I have to mouth inane lines."—Peter Dinklage.

"The only concrete result of my success is that now I can get a table in a restaurant without waiting."—Mike Nichols.

"I'm not interested in the stage any more. I hope I can fill my life with film."—Josh Logan.

"The nice thing about movies and television today, you get chances to do many things. In the old days, with one studio, they wrote pictures for you and so most of them were the same kind of part. Now you have to fit into a script instead of the script fitting you."—Margaret O'Brien.

"A picture like I'm writing now—The Last Battle—is more a producer's picture than a writer's picture. The problem is more logistics than art."—Cornelius Ryan.
